My Dream

It was a long time ago.
I have almost forgotten my dream
But it was there
In front of me.
Bright like the sun,
My dream.
Then the wall rose
Slowly, between my dream and me,
Dimming, hiding the light of my dream.
The wall rose until it touched the sky.
I lie down in the shadow
No longer the light of my dream was before me,
Above me, only the thick wall and the shadow
My hands broke through the wall
To find my dream.
They helped me to shatter this darkness,
To smash this night,
To break this shadow
Into a thousand lights of sun,
Whirling from the past to the present.

Let It Be

Let mountains be mountains
Let it be the dream it used to be.
Let it be the pioneer on the plain.

Let lakes be the dreams of the dreamers
Let it be that great strong land of love

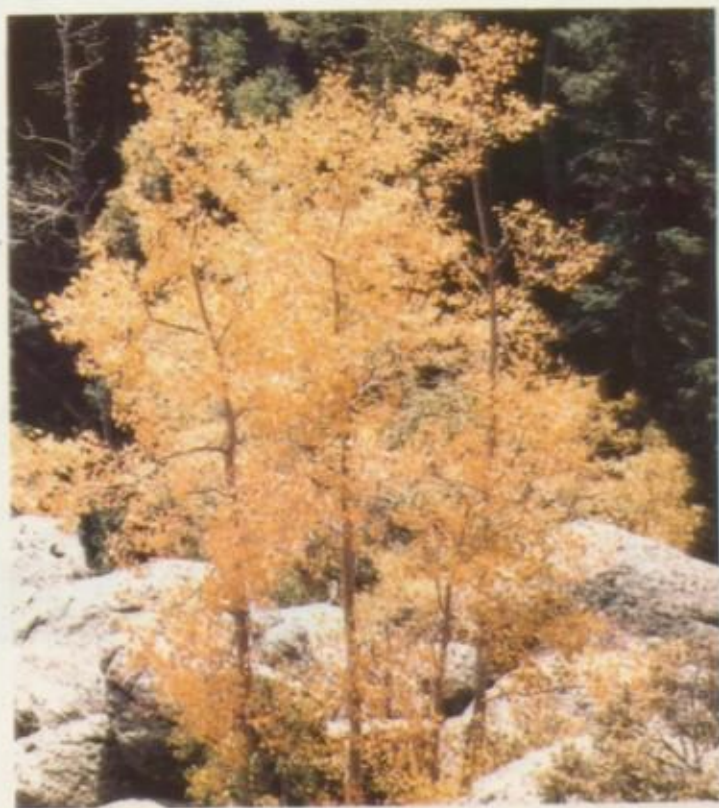

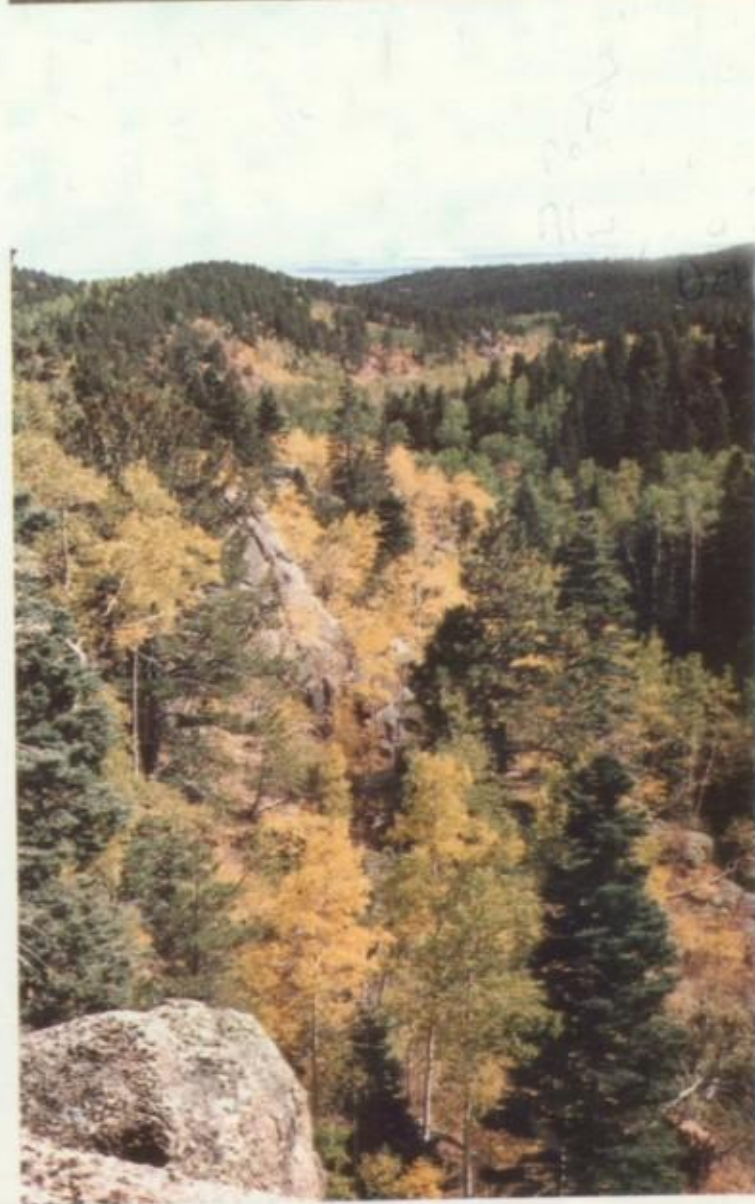

Let the land be a land where liberty
Is crowned with no false patriotic wreath
But opportunity is real, and life is free,
Equality is in the air we breathe.
Yet, the one dreamt our basic dream
In the Old World while still a serf of kings,
Who dreamt a dream so strong, so brave, so true,

In every brick and stone, in every furrow turned That's made America the land it has become.
For all the dreams we've dreamed
And all the songs we've sung
And all the flags we've hung
There is nothing for our pay
Except for the dream we keep alive today.

Key to Success

It has been said that education is the key to success. However, without time for relaxation and school involvement, the academic journey, at best, becomes tedious. Students need to spend time not only studying, but also actively involving themselves in clubs, sports, civic and social gatherings. Meeting friends at a fast-food restaurant and cruising Main Street are small, but important events in the lives of students.

In order to exemplify the involvement of the student body beyond its academic endeavors, the yearbook staff has added the Student Life section.

First Day

When the State Fair activities start coming to an end, students and staff members of Centennial High School start to worry about the first day of school. This year was no exception.

As the students entered the building on August 29th., there were many decorations welcoming the freshmen to Centennial. Outside there were paper bags with messages, and Freshmen Hall was decorated with streamers and posters.

In the cafeteria, counselors passed out schedules to students, who then reported to their rollrooms. Upon arrival, they filled out information cards and received their locker combinations and numbers.

As fifth hour rolled around, tummies began growling; lunchtime finally arrived. There were a few changes in the lunch program, the main one being the offering of milk shakes for fifty cents in the cold lunch line.

By the end of the day, all of the students and faculty were ready for a nap. This was one of the longest, yet most memorable days of the year.

Homecoming '83: Unique Events

Coming Home to Centennial

The Centennial student body had an unforgettable time participating in this year's homecoming festivities.

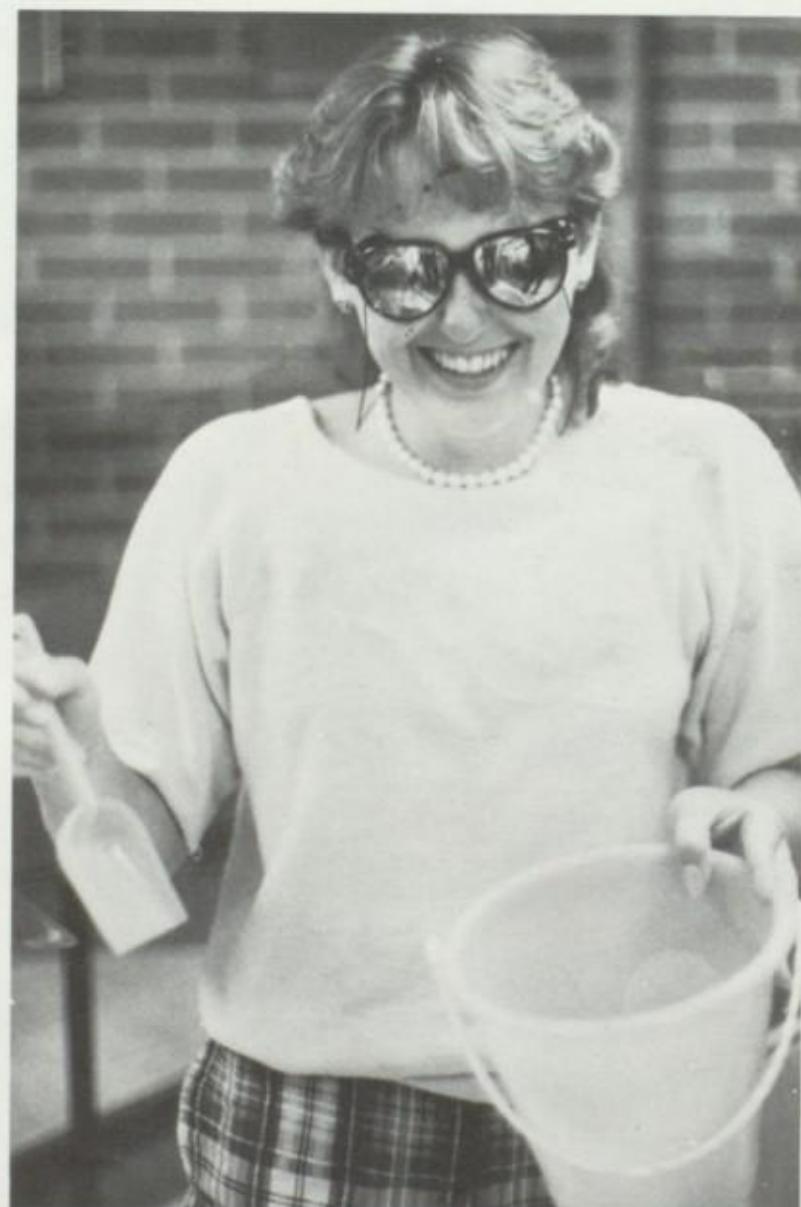

On Monday, September 26th, Bulldogs gathered in Centennial's auditorium to witness the colorful, exciting, and dramatic talent show. A wide variety of talent was performed - everything from dancing to Michael Jackson to singing Mexican folk songs.

As the week progressed, spirit-filled Bulldogs took off their daily school attire and put on togas, hats, sunglasses, and beach apparel.

Thursday night, September 29th, daring male Bulldogs took off their jeans and hightop tennis shoes and put on make-up, their best jewelry, and unbelievable high heels. These adventurous guys participated in the annual Ms. Homecoming Pageant. The competition consisted of an evening gown, talent and swimsuit competition, complete with sexy feminine struts, squeaky girlish voices, and dramatic poses. The talent competition was definitely the funniest category in the pageant. A ballet, an imitation of the rock group - The Go-Go's, a wild and crazy skit, the singing of a Norwegian folk song and the performing of songs were events that the participants and the audience will never forget.

Remarkably Fun-filled

The 1983 Ms. Homecoming Queen was "Illene On Him", portrayed by Jeff Gallegos. "Illene", a beautiful girl, had long black hair, long red finger nails, and quite a figure.

Friday, September 30th, Joan Simms was crowned the 1983 Homecoming Queen at the assembly. Miss Simms was quoted as saying, "I am glad to have been nominated by my class and I thank everyone for giving me this experience." Beth Keck, Lynne Moran, and Penny Knight were Joan's attendants.

Saturday, October 1st, the Bulldogs battled against Cheyenne Mountain for first place lead in our league; unfortunately, the team lost in overtime. That evening, at the Homecoming dance, Centennial was filled with students moving to the beat and having a terrific time.

Homecoming '83: Memorable Times

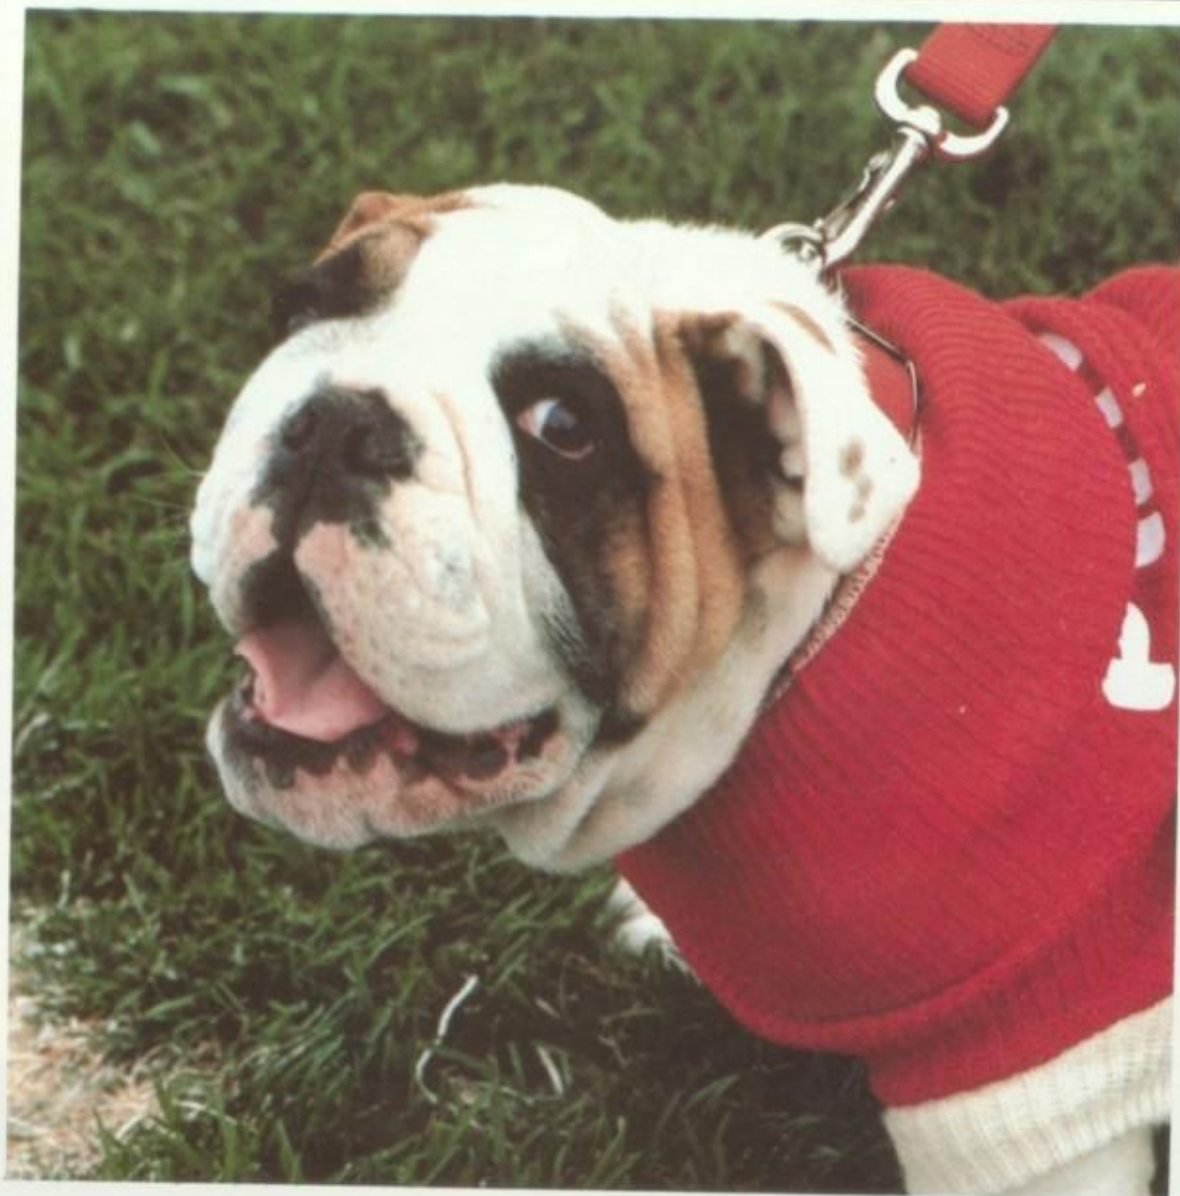

Colorful Reminiscences

At the home of the mighty Bulldogs, many exciting, crazy, and definitely memorable events took place the last week of September.

As the student body looked back at this fun-filled time, twinkles formed in their eyes and smiles appeared on their faces - these reminiscences recalled the spirit of homecoming.

Dressing up as a Greek and returning to that era for one day, wearing one's most exotic sunglasses and dad's old hat, seeing the crowning of the queen as she experienced the thrill of victory at the homecoming assembly, laughing profusely at the daring Ms. Homecoming contestants, having a good time cheering at the traditional homecoming game, and dancing to the music were all a part of the festivities. These events will always be memorable for the Centennial High School student.

School Work

People sometimes think that going to school is just for fun and games. This is not true; it takes much hard work and determination to succeed. The students at Centennial would certainly agree! With the abundance of time spent studying and completing assignments, as well as cramming for tests at the last possible minute, students soon realize what school life is all about. The worries that augment due to a forgotten chemistry experiment, or a gym uniform left home, finally catch up with you; that's when you really know you're in school!

Places Students Go

Pueblo's economy has suffered greatly this past year; however, places that students habitually frequented still continue to flourish. After ongoing athletic events, students from Centennial could be found at McDonalds, Taco Bell, Burger King, and Godfathers. On Wednesday nights, many students went to PRC, Pueblo Recreational Center, to listen to the music and play various games. Saturday mornings, several students could be spotted shopping at the Pueblo Mall.

1984 Snowfest

Winter Wonderful Weekend

The sweet exchancement of Snowfest overwhelmed the royalty court, the student body, and anyone else who participated in this wonderful weekend.

Stephanie Nietfeld was crowned queen at the Snowfest assembly Friday, December 16th. She was escorted by Chris Chambers; they both enjoyed moving to the music at the assembly and dance. Miss Nietfeld's court consisted of Cindy Stines, escorted by Todd Kelly, Micky Danna, escorted by Larry Mutz, and Katie Cordova, escorted by Ray Romero.

The Snowfest dance followed the boys' basketball game; the team unfortunately lost by one point to East. The dance went over very well with the student body; a local D.J. did a super job of selecting and playing music of people's choice. The selection definitely held the attention of all dancers, music lovers, and dance goers.

This was a wonderful, enchanting, and fun-filled weekend; thanks to all who made it possible.

Drama Play

The preparing, rehearsing, casting, and building are the tasks of the Centennial drama department. Fortunately, with the help of Mr. Gallegos and the various participants, the first production this year went over exceedingly well. Mr. Gallegos stated that he was pleased with the students' performances and the way they excelled in their efforts. Between plays, Mr. Gallegos is not the only one in action; directions are constantly being given and taken to improve the standards of the plays. Mr. Gallegos is hoping to continue with the traditional outstanding drama productions at Centennial by building a strong foundation with the resourceful students under his supervision.

Eight new teachers were added to the faculty: Ms. Sue Aronofsky, Mrs. Jayce Hutchinson, Mr. Sal Gallegos, Mr. Al Clark, Mr. Earl Poteet, Mr. Gerald Califano, Mr. David Barber, and Ms. Barbara Mulqueen. Mr. Frank Latino was the new assistant principal, Mr. Deward Thornton was the activities director, Mr. Lupe Rodriguez was the guidance counselor, and Mrs. Cathy Gallegos was the new secretary.

Many other memorable events took place during the year. Coach Brockman and the football team went to state for the first time in many years. Coach Pickering was named the Cross Country Coach of the Year. Centennial was evaluated during the North Central Evaluation in October.

"C" Royalty Top Notch Jocks

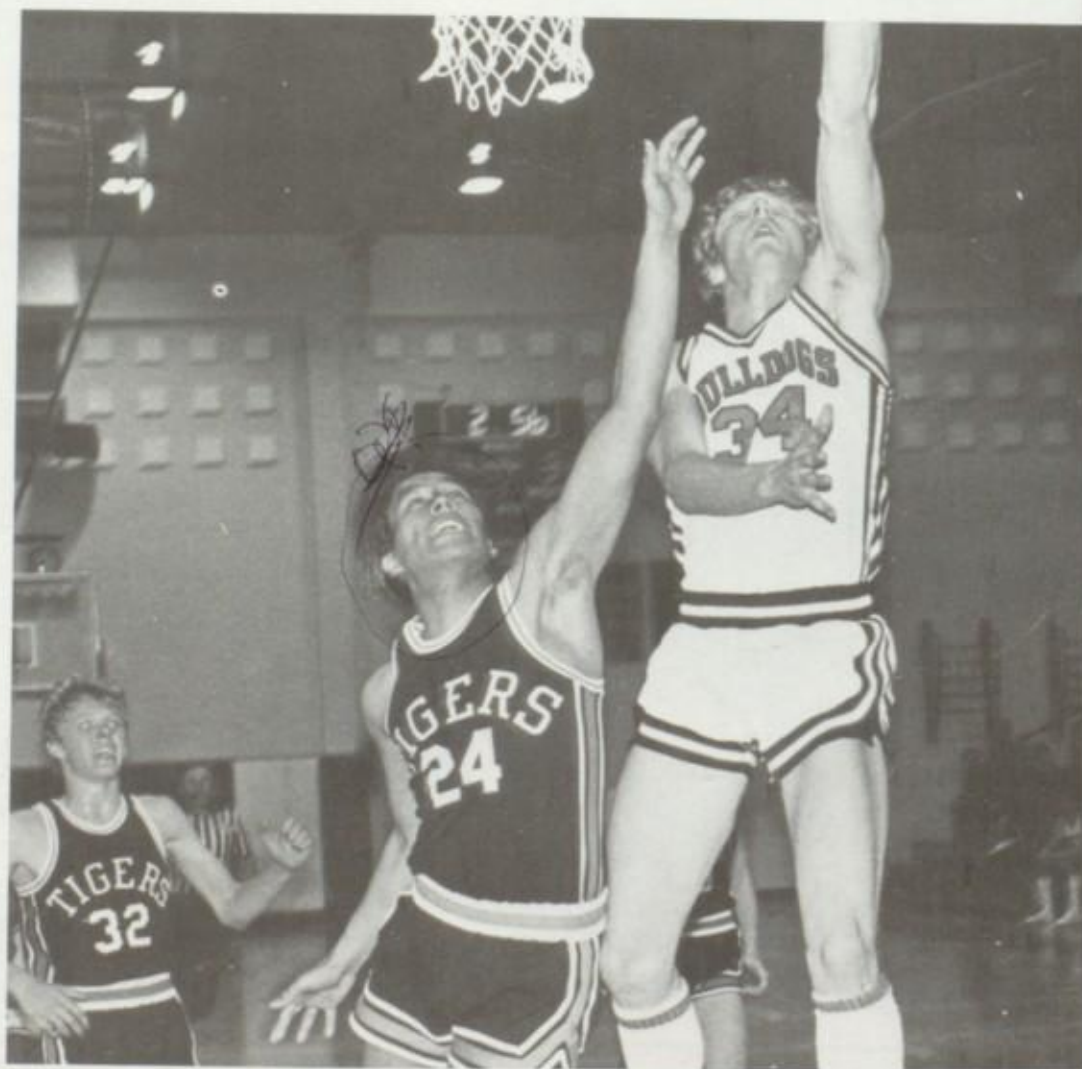

Mr. and Ms. "C" is an honor bestowed upon Centennial's most athletic few. The coaches nominate three boys and three girls from the senior class; "C" Club members then have the final vote. These athletes must have lettered in two or more of the sports offered at Centennial. The presentation of the laurel wreaths, a mythological reward for worthy achievement, is an annual event which reveals the athletic excellence of our school.

Mr. and Ms. "C" for 1984 were Carl Cochran and Linda Lehermeier. Carl has lettered twice in basketball and three times in baseball. Linda has earned four letters in swimming, three in basketball, and two in track. Stephanie Nietfeld acquired three in volleyball, one in basketball, and one in track. Dawn Ireland obtained two letters in volleyball, two in basketball, and four in track. Mike Sprague secured three in football and three in baseball. Games and Assemblies

The 1983-84 year was exemplary of the spirit and pride upon which Centennial has been built. Our school was represented by many fine athletes.

Spirit initially had a slow start but as the year progressed, the four classes united — they became one. More and more students began to support our athletes as they competed.

Each assembly was filled with an abundance of "Bulldog Pride." Students and faculty joined in wishing good-luck to our athletes as each sport was introduced.

We'll always be proud of our competing students. We know that with each competition, "Bulldog Spirit and Pride" will be exemplified.

J.R.O.T.C. At Their Finest

Dancing The Night Away

This year's J.R.O.T.C. Dance was a huge success, complete with a fine band, decorations, and a large attendance. Everybody there had a great time dancing the night away and meeting other students from surrounding schools. This city-wide dance was an excellent opportunity for our girls to show their true Bulldog spirit.

Jeanna Grimes was crowned the 1983-84 Military Ball Queen at the dance and graciously accepted the crown and cape. Her attendants were: 1st runner-up Brenda Castro, 2nd runner-up Beth Minor, and 3rd runner-up Francine Nagelschneider.

We extend our congratulations to these girls and are proud they are part of the fine tradition at Centennial.

Springtime Sensation

This year's La Familia dance was held in April. This lovely spring event was greeted by warm weather as the last of the winter snows finally melted. It was a fun-filled evening for all with a high attendance. The dance was held at District 60 Gym which was decorated to look its best.

This year's Queen, Estella Munoz, is a junior and a proud member of La Familia. Her dedication and hard work helped her to receive this high honor. Her attendants were Paulette Garcia, senior, and Kathy Madrid, junior.

Fads and Fashions In Vogue

For the fashion and maybe the fad conscious students, this year held many major changes in their wardrobes. Hairstyles, skirt lengths, and traditional styles took on a whole new dimension.

The ladies' hairstyles became shorter, more modern and colored hair was in vogue whether the color be traditional brown or red, white, and blue.

The guys' hair styles shorter on the top of the head, usually feathered back and, depending on one's preference, were either very short or very long at the nape of the neck.

Miniskirts, colored tights, textured legware, rock pins, jean jackets, large earrings, ballet flats, jazz shoes and "Flashdance" sweatshirts, worn off the right shoulder, were all big hits in the fashion world for women. Guess jeans - tight around the calf with zippers at the ankle - and cropped pants - stopping above the ankle - brought a new perspective to legwear.

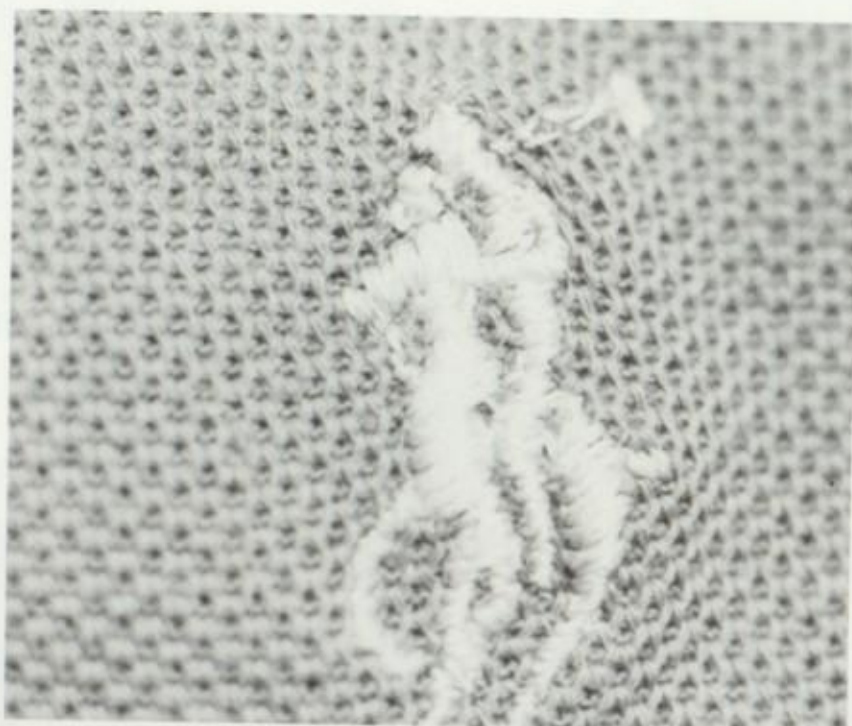

Preppie was still in style. Polos, khaki pants and oxfords kept up with tradition but some aspects were modernized. The polo, for example, was updated by adding a colored bandana around the neck.

Punk became "New Wave" with skirts above the knee. Large trench coats were worn with everything and funky glasses brought back the fifties fashion.

The most dramatic change for the fashion conscious guy was the new jazz shoe. These leather, suede, or canvas shoes rocked their way into many male closets.

This year will always be remembered for initiating the modern, new-wave look. Some perceive these styles as fads, while others see them as fashions.

1984 Prom

A Hundred Times Better

This year's prom made history; the excellent turnout, the fantastic decorations, and the romantic spirit all contributed to a memorable evening. The event took place at the Sangre de Cristo Arts Center on the twenty-eighth of April. A classy band played for a diversified musical audience.

Many people were involved in this extravaganza and helped make it a special evening. Matt Murray was the dance chairman; James Asbury was the chairman of publicity; Bitsy Tonne and Amy Henrikson chaired the refreshment committee; Candi Adson and Terrina Coffey were in charge of decorations; Clayton McCaw was very instrumental in getting a band, and Mr. Haley's support and organizing techniques were most appreciated.

Andrea Salazar and Ray Romero were crowned Prom Queen and King. Their attendants were Robin Hargrove, Craig Arnold, Betsy Flint, Jon Crowell, Marnie Standish, and Jeff Gallegos.

The student body, especially the senior class, thank all who helped make this event possible. Prom 1984 made history in everyone's memory book.

Key To Perfection

It has been said that practice is the key to perfection. The 1984 Bulldog teams proved that statement to be true. A number of Centennial's students competed in state competitions. Students who did not get the chance to play in state competition still brought pride to the Bulldogs. The coaches, players, and managers should be complimented on their fine showing this year.

A Winning Season

At the beginning of the 1983 football season, the varsity Bulldog players set two goals. These were to have a winning season and to reach the state playoffs. Both were accomplished! The team had seven wins and four losses (7-2 league). This record sent our boys straight to the quarterfinals against the Brighton Bulldogs.

This was a turn-around year for the Centennial High School football program. Coming from a previous year record of two wins and eight losses, the team prepared with zeal for a tough '83 season. The powerful experience of eighteen returning lettermen showed their prowess when they attained the position of having the number one defense and the number three offense in the South-Central 3-A league. Occasionally, the team was ranked among the top ten in the state on the coaches' poll. Out of the four losses, two came down to the wire. One was in overtime with Cheyenne Mountain; the other was by three points against Canon City. There was a three-way tie between these two teams and the Bulldogs in the S-C 3-A league. The remaining two were the hard battles in the "Bell" game and at State, where there were some questionable calls, some thought, by the men in black and white.

This season set the pace for spirit at Centennial that penetrated the entire year. There were four pep buses that travelled to Brighton for the playoffs.

There will be twenty-two returning lettermen next year.

Runners Race To The Top

The 1983-1984 Boys' Cross Country team had an overall impressive season. The team had three of its top seven runners return as lettermen. They showed a great deal of determination and desire. Each runner did his part in order to reach his full potential. The team did extremely well in the District Meet against the top ten league schools; Bulldog pride was displayed in all of the runners.

The team captain this year was Randy Arellano who took his team to a fine finish. Andy Medina led the boys' varsity by placing in the top twenty-five percent of all the meets in which he ran.

We are very proud of this team for all the time and effort that went into the season. In the long run, they exemplified the true meaning of courage and stamina.

Dedication

This year's Girls' Cross Country Team had fifteen dedicated runners. They had a continuous winning season. The girls took first in two of the most important meets, City and District. This is the first time the girls have taken both City and District titles. This has been the third time that a girls' cross country team has qualified for state.

We had eight returning lettermen this year. Our top five runners were Mindy Beck, Brenda Vigil, Dawn Comstock, Amy Yeager, and Marnie Standish. Mindy Beck, Brenda Vigil, and Dawn Comstock were named All-City. This team has been one of the largest at Centennial. There were only two seniors—Marnie Standish and Lisa Alvarado. We feel that in the coming season these girls will show a lot of potential.

This team had a lot of injuries which kept a few of the runners from showing their complete potential.

We hope that we have a large team next fall that will show their pride and determination throughout another successful season.

Volleyball: No Guts, No Glory!

Bump, Set, Spike

This year's volleyball team was the most united in Centennial's history. They played together and showed their Bulldog pride. They had a never-give-up attitude which led them to be "City Champs." The team was young and will come back very powerful next year.

The team starters consisted of Laura Pineda - sophomore, Trish Kelly, Liz Baca, Candi Adson, and Mary Lutz - juniors, and team captain Stephanie Nietfeld - senior. The team also had support from their back ups.

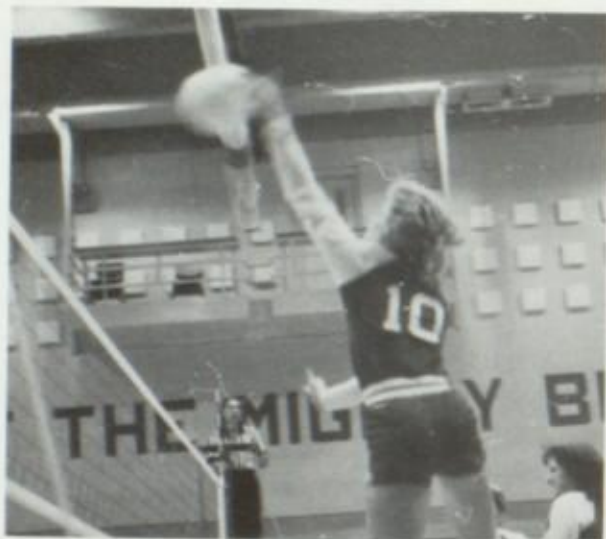

These Bulldog volleyballers set goals and worked hard to achieve them. Their practices were demanding both mentally and physically. They worked hard to earn the respect of their fans.

The coaches of this team were Major Kohr and Mr. Haley. They pushed the girls hard and reminded them of their goals. With constant concern and guiding of the coaches and the girls; hard work, the team finished a fine season.

Bulldog Girls Make A Splash

Raising Waves

This year's Girls' Swim Team showed an outstanding display of strength, pride, and the ability to work together to achieve success. Perfection peaked this year!

The following girls went to state competition at the Air Force Academy this year: Stephanie Martinez, Jennifer Chambers, Sarah Bedard, Linda Lehermier; Kristen Hoyer and Ellie Ward were alternates. These girls did their best and helped to display Centennial pride.

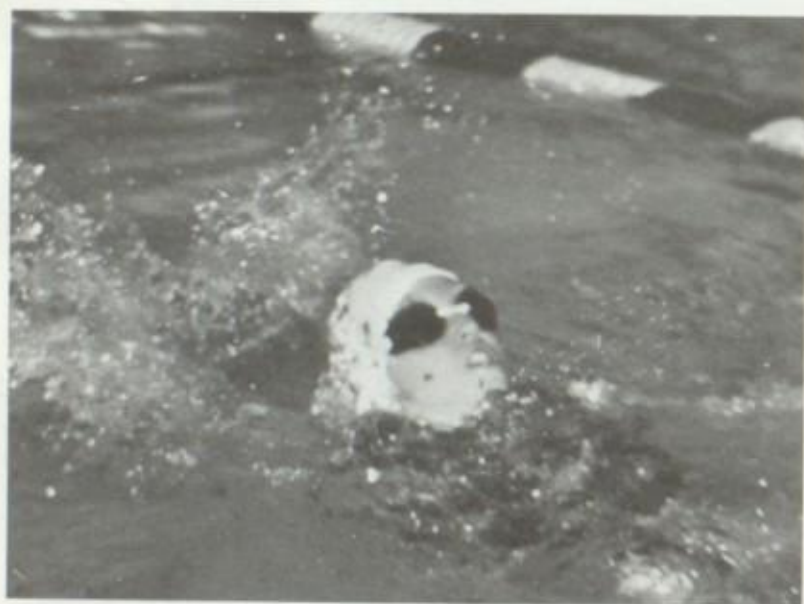

The team coach this year was Pam Courtney. She has been coaching the girls' swim team for about five years and has helped Centennial to achieve many victories. Along her side was Karen Stevens as the team manager. The only senior on the team this year was Linda Lehermier.

After having a successful year, the girls are ready to face next year. Centennial is proud to say that they have the best girls' swim team and the best coach. Truly fantastic in '83!

Swinging Bulldogs

The 1983 golf team suffered through the pains of a rebuilding year. Although the season had many tough breaks, these bulldogs never gave up. The team placed 5th in the district and John Ceplo missed qualifying for state by one stroke. The varsity lettering team was comprised of one senior, three juniors, and one freshman. We look forward to seeing the 1984 golf team do well next year in the league as well as in the district.

Improving Season

This was a season for slow starts on the Boys' Varsity Basketball Team. Yet, with Dave Shaub's coaching and a variety of team talent, the boys overcame the problems that were present at the beginning of the 83-84 season. This year, the boys were more team oriented, relying on eight seniors, 3 juniors, and 1 sophomore to balance the scoring effectively. Losing senior guards Willie DeHerrera and Joe Duran last year set the Bulldogs down a notch experience wise, but senior Vince Duarte and sophomore Carl Watson have filled the point positions well. With an average of four people a game in double figures, the Bulldog cagers managed to put the pressures aside to become equal to the top teams in the South-Central 3A League.

Girls' Basketball

Swish

Centennial has had a wonderful year in sports; the girls' basketball team was no exception! The strength and ability displayed by these girls contributed to their success. Each team member displayed her talent and pride, resulting in total school spirit.

This year has been more structural for the girls' team. They lost seven seniors and had various injuries. However, hope and spirit reigned.

Although the team had to work a lot harder to reach their desired goal, they did it with style and dignity. Truly a bunch of "classy ladies".

Boys' Swimming

Splish, Splash

The boys' swim team upheld their reputation of being the best. Coached by Mr. Haley, the team received a City-Championship — an honor they have held since 1980. Also, since 1980 the team has held the best record in Bulldog history, having 33 wins — 10 losses. The team had many state qualifiers.

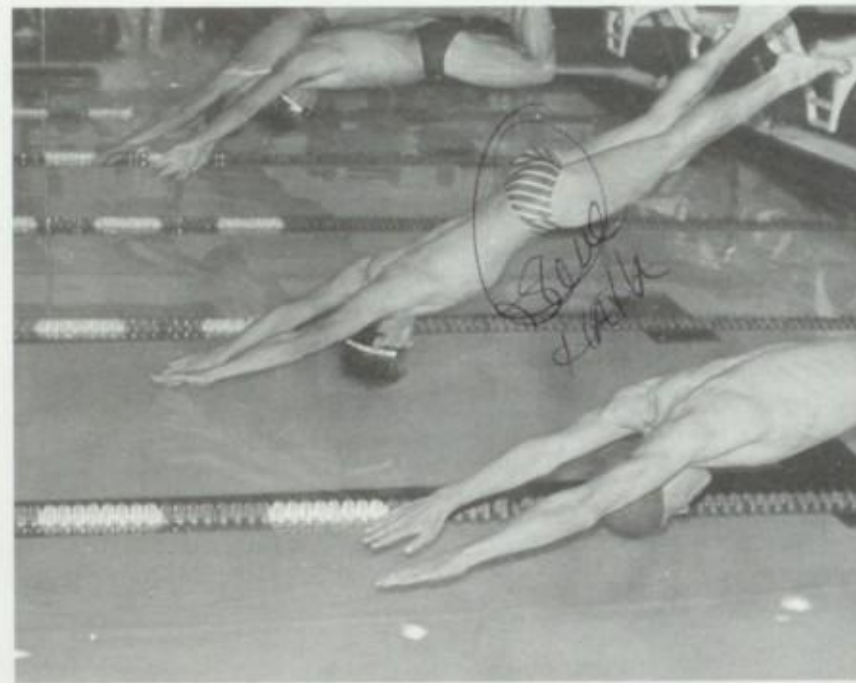

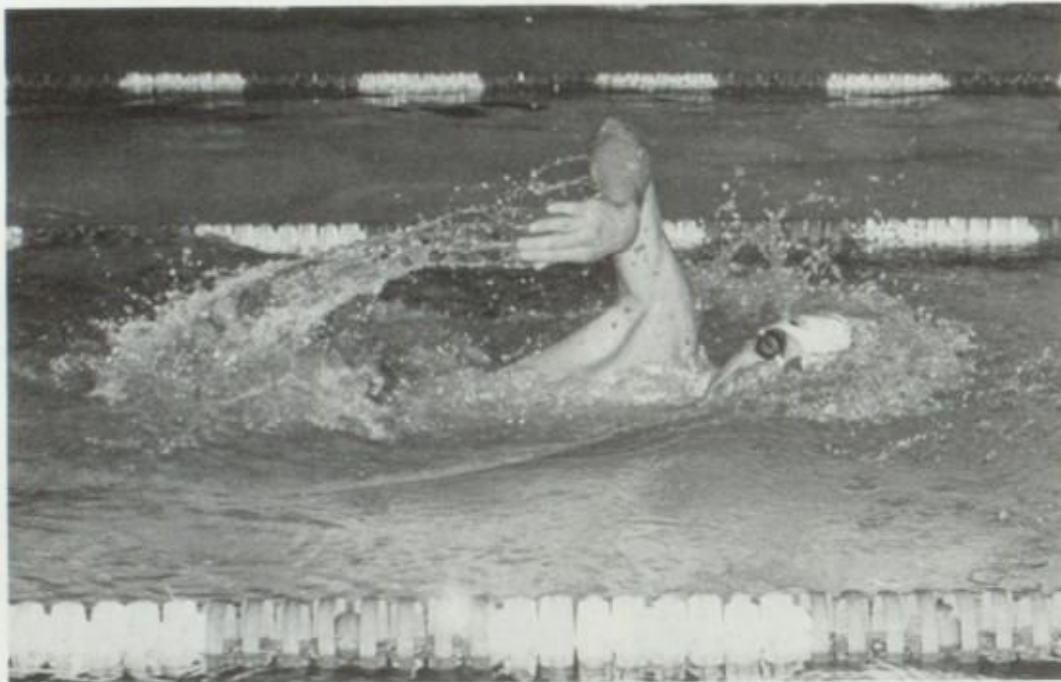

The individual goals set by these swimmers didn't stop at state; the aims of some were as high as All-American, Jr. Nationals, and maybe even Sr. Nationals. The first Bulldog to receive such an award was Doug Knight, who was recognized as an All-American Diver last June.

To reach such goals both as individuals and as a team, they had to sacrifice. The swimmers practiced hard — both before school, at 6:00 a.m., and after school. These swimmers have achieved! They have met with success to make Centennial the best in the city.

Boys' Track

Gets A

Fresh Start

This years 1983-84 Boys' Track Team had a new beginning. This team had many underclassmen participating. They showed dedication, strength, potential, and talent.

There were many new faces on the track team this year. However, with team support from each other, the team showed that they were willing to work to meet their highest goal - to succeed. This year's team was an improvement over last year's and as time progresses this team will be spectacular.

They only had four seniors who helped to lead the underclassmen to gain unity throughout the team and each other.

Many of the graduates from the previous year have volunteered their time and efforts to work with individuals in their specialized events.

"The work you do on the track is worth more than the money you earn," quoted from a very potential distance runner.

Girls' Track

Upward And Onward

This year's girls' track team was coached by Mr. Larry Pickering, who also was the Cross Country coach this year.

This team had only a few seniors, so the strength of the team was carried predominately by the underclassmen. Since everyone did his own part, the team as a whole went far. They had more determination and experience than in past years, which helped this team a great deal. More lettermen returned this year than ever: a total of fourteen lettermen returned. Since there were few seniors this year, next year looks very promising.

Centennial High School is very proud to have this team represent the mighty Bulldogs!

Baseball: A Grand Slam Season

Home Plate

The baseball team enjoyed the experience of ten returning letterman this year. Among them were: Carl Cochran, Todd Kelly, Joe Siegal, Mike Sprague, and Everett Wormington. Optimism for the season ran high with this added advantage. Enthusiasm for the season showed when fifty students turned-out for the first practice. Determination was in every competitor to make the thirty-seven spots the team offered.

This was head coach Earl Poteet's first year with the bulldog batters. His coaching talents proved to strengthen the baseball team.

Girls' Bulldog Tennis: An Ace

Young But Promising

If someone mentioned the 1984 Centennial Girls' Tennis Team three words would come to mind: young, promising and determined. The team, consisting of one senior, four juniors, five sophomores and seven freshmen, strove for excellence in every point, game, set, and match. These young promising ladies were determined to make 1984 a successful season. Coach John Gallina was very instrumental in the team's success through his support and positive attitude. However, this tennis success was not measured by wins or losses but to the extent that each member improved and grew. Hats off to Coach Gallina. The team couldn't have done it without you.

Knock-Out

This year's boxing team showed high incentive even though there were few boxers at Centennial. Under the coaching abilities of Rocky Guerra, these young fighters have proven to be of high quality.

Eufemio Baca has a record of 37 wins and 5 losses. He was the 1983 Golden Gloves Champ at 119 pounds. Eloy Lucero took 3rd place in Junior Golden Gloves at 125 pounds. Arthur Alarid, who is just beginning, has the potential of having a great career.

These young boxers are hard working and dedicated to this demanding sport. Centennial High School wishes them the best of luck in their possible boxing careers.

Annual Staff Captures Memories

Annual Staff Shows Dedication

Dedication is the key to an outstanding yearbook. This year's staff showed what the true meaning of dedication is. Staying up until 6:00 in the morning to do a layout, coming in on Saturday morning to develop pictures, and doing a page three or four times to reach perfection are only a few of the things that this year's staff did in order to produce the best possible annual.

Over the summer two of the editors and two of the photographers participated in a clinic held at the University of Southern Colorado. At the workshop, the editors not only reviewed the basics of layout and design, but they also learned how to modernize the yearbook. Our yearbook is a representation of the newer trends. The photographers participated in darkroom and picture-taking procedures.

In September, the entire staff participated in another clinic sponsored by Walsworth Publishing Company; East High School hosted these sessions. The staff members were extremely proud to hear that they had taken first place in layout and design. The publishing company awarded each student gold stamping identification on his or her yearbook cover.

We hope that this annual will bring forth fond memories of time spent at Centennial High School.

Pom-Pons: Having A Good Time!

Keeping It All Together

When the word "Pom-Pon" comes to mind, the average person thinks of dances, dances and more dances; however, some people fail to realize the hard work involved in producing these dances. The Pons put in a ten-hour week choreographing, practicing, perfecting, performing at athletic events, and supporting other extra-curricular activities.

Being a member of this squad requires commitment, dedication, and a positive attitude. Accompanying the hard work is enjoyment in the form of water fights, picnics, performing at halftime at a Denver Nuggets game and having a good time. The Pom-Pon squad also competed in the State Fair Parade, placing third with a total score of 83 points - just 2 points less than first place.

This year a new teacher sponsored the Pon squad. Mrs. Annett Daurio took time away from her family and her teaching career to attend meetings, practices, and performances. She did a splendid job of organizing, supporting and believing in this organization.

The year was filled with many exciting and spirited events; every Pom-Pon member is fond of these memories.

Centenniallight: Telling It Like It Is

The Centenniallight Staff is composed of students who learn basic journalism skills as they write, edit, and design the layout of the school newspaper. Goals to be met for the 1983-84 school year included making the paper more appealing to the students, improving layout and design, encouraging student involvement, and reflecting the spirit of Centennial High School.

The Journalism I and II classes, in junction with the graphic arts department, produced the school newspaper.

New advisor, Mrs. Hutchison, guided the staff in its efforts to chronicle the events of the year and help preserve the special moments of the Bulldog High School life.

In the home training lab, which is a classroom designed as an apartment, self-care and home living skills are taught. The students also learn functional academics such as: telling time, counting money, sight words, and writing.

In the spring, some of the students participated in the Field and Track Special Olympics, which was held in Canon City. The events, which included a softball throw, long jump, track and wheelchair races, were concerned mostly with participation and the effort each one of these displayed. "C" Club Intensity

The 1983-84 "C" Club began the year with a fresh look on the meaning of pride. Coach Dave Shaub, the sponsor, and Pam Stockton, the president, placed the letter winners into a more supportive role at Centennial.

Increased faculty and parent turn-out for athletic events was one of the major goals. Another goal was the uniting of the athletes. This year also brought about increased recognition of the minor sports in which our students participated. Programs, complete with schedules, team goals, and some individual views, were sponsored by "C" club.

We were happy to have received many new faces into this athletic organization and hope several more will strive for total involvement in the sports offered at Centennial. The best of luck to all future letter winners.

This year's Speech and Debate team was comprised of twenty beginning and advanced speakers as well as a new coach. The team competed in many tournaments throughout the school year. Options for competition included Senior and Novice Cross-Examination Debate, Lincoln-Douglas Debate, Boys' and Girls' Extemporaneous Speaking, Original Oratory, and Interpretations of Dramatic, Poetic, and Humorous Literature. Members had the opportunity to earn points and advance through degrees of honor, merit, excellence, distinction and special distinction in the National Forensic League, a widely recognized speech organization. On-The-Job Area vocational training gave some of Centennial's students some expertise training in their chosen occupations. The program was demanding of the student's time by being in the classroom 2½ hours a day. The classes were put into on-the-job situations, and later some students got real on-the-job training. Some of the programs available are health occupation, welding, electronics, dental assistant, legal-medical secretary, cosmetology, building construction, auto mechanics, and auto body. The students felt that it was a great way to get some experience before graduating.

Future Business Leaders Of America: Getting Down To Business

Small But Outstanding

FBLA was a small but active club at Centennial. They participated in many competitions in their favorite business area. The officers participated in the Mountain Plains Regional Leadership Conference, and the qualified members attended the District Leadership Conference and the State Leadership Conference. They also helped to organize a banquet featuring Dan Clark, a well known song writer, author, and youth leader. FBLA participated in community projects such as helping to prepare for the 100th year graduation by typing a list of the past teachers of Centennial.

To support their activities, FBLA had many fund raisers; they sold everything from chocolate chip cookies to popcorn in canisters.

FBLA had a fun and very productive year.

VICA Strives For Excellence

Amateurs Yet Professionals

Vica is a national organization. The abbreviation, V.I.C.A., stands for Vocational Industrial Clubs of America.

To be a member of V.I.C.A., one must have already taken graphic arts I and presently be taking vocational graphic arts.

Vocational graphic arts class is a two-hour class that offers on-the-job training; it is operated just like a professional print shop.

Doughnuts were sold between classes in room 402 as a fund raiser for sending vocational graphic arts students to out-of-town printing competitions.

New Ways to Expand

La Familia was an organization made up of Spanish students from Centennial. This year, La Familia strived for new horizons. They sold sopapillas and burritos and earned a large amount of money to support club activities. This year's officers were Paulette Garcia as the club's president, Estella Munoz as vice president, and Kathy Madrid as secretary.

La Familia worked hard and as a result had a terrific year. Congratulations are in order to LaFamilia for their success and achievements. Centennial thanks them for their support and the hard work they did to help make this a memorable year.

A New Experience

This year Centennial welcomed thirty-five students and five teachers from Chihuahua, Mexico. They spent the week of October 23-29, 1983, learning of our culture, touring the town, and performing dances at many of our schools. On Thursday, October 27, they performed at the Sangre de Cristo Arts Center as a farewell performance to Pueblo.

During the week of November 18-26, 1983, forty students and six adults from Centennial returned the visit as they went to Chihuahua, Mexico. They were taken on many tours of the town and a trip was included to the mountains to a little town called Creel. The kindness of the people made the trip very enjoyable.

One of the many things that both schools have in common is their mascot, which is the Bulldog; their school colors are only slightly different from ours.

This trip was sponsored by the Cultural Exchange Club, Mr. Mead, and Mrs. Aguilera. We hope that in the upcoming years, this will become a tradition between the Centennial and Chihuahua Bulldogs. We would like to thank Mr. Joe Alvarado for these photographs made available to us.

Junior ROTC Standing Tall

Preparing For Future

The Junior ROTC program provides for the development of self-discipline and responsibility.

These qualities came into full demonstration this year as the ROTC members defended the possession of the Honor Unit Distinction Award. The award is given to the top twenty percent of the Junior ROTC programs out of six hundred schools around the world.

The drill team defended its State Championship; among other events were the Military Awareness Day and the annual turkey shoot. The Awareness Day was successful as all the latest military machinery was on hand for public viewing. The Junior ROTC spirit showed in school activities as the members provided a Color Guard at every assembly and home football game.

Major Kohr stressed the fact that the program can give a young person an extra edge in life as well as an edge in a military branch of the armed forces.

Key To The Future

It has been said that today's youth are the key to the future. Centennial's students are definitely going to be the top leaders in the future. There were over forty members in National Honor Society last year, which tells one how academically inclined Centennial's students are. A congratulations and good luck go to all academic achievers.

N.H.S.: Scholarship, Character, Service, Leadership

Active With 40

National Honor Society is one of the most prestigious organizations in Centennial. To become a member, a student must have a 3.4 or higher grade point average. The student is then judged by teachers in the following categories: scholarship, character, service and leadership.

With over forty members, N.H.S. was one of the most active clubs. They sponsored a Newlywed Game, the annual N.H.S. - Faculty Volleyball Game, and a carwash. They also served as hostesses at the North Central Evaluation Banquet.

Valedictorian

Joan Simms

Centennial's Best

Throughout four years at Centennial, one student has earned the right to be recognized as valedictorian. This prestigious achievement honors the student who had disciplined herself to obtain it. Through sheer ambition and determination, Joan Simms reached this goal. Being valedictorian represents years of hard scholastic work and a struggle for the achievement of excellence. Full commitment of individual talents and skills are characteristics of a valedictorian. Congratulations, Joan — Centennial is proud of you.

Junior Escorts

Centennial's Finest

The graduation of 1983 held special meaning for 17 members of National Honor Society. These few members of the class of 1984 escorted the senior class of 1983 to their seats before and after receiving their diplomas.

Last year the girls decided to wear the same dresses. The escort guides wore light blue formal dresses and the other girls wore pink formals. The boys looked real classy in their all-white tuxedos.

After the ceremony, there was a reception in the Elliott Commons Area, where the escorts served punch and cookies to the graduates and their families.

These few students should be congratulated for their fine contribution to the graduation of 1983.

Each year there are outstanding seniors who pass through Centennial. These seniors are selected for the Who's Who by the staff members of each department. They strove for perfection and reached unlimited goals for themselves and for Centennial High School. As they leave the life they've known and proceed to greater challenges, we will see them again achieve excellence and surpassing merit. Centennial would like to congratulate them on their performance and thank them for being a special part of our school.

Quill and Scroll

International Honorary Society for High School Journalists

This year, six students were chosen to be in Centennial's chapter of Quill and Scroll, an international Honorary Organization. This is an association of those students who have shown superior work in some form of publication or photographic endeavor. They were Kathy Colton, editor of the yearbook, Heather Knight, assistant editor of the yearbook, Pam Stockton, photography editor of the yearbook, David Trimble, editor of the Centenniallight, Steve Drew, photography editor of the Centenniallight, and Linda Lehemeier, editor of the Centenniallight.

The members chosen for this organization must be in the top one-third of their class and must also be a junior or senior. Second-semester sophomores, however, may be initiated during the last part of their sophomore year. The membership will then become finalized the beginning of their junior year. After being accepted, the new member must pay his or her registration dues. This entitles him or her to receive a pin or a charm which signifies their literary achievement, and also a one year subscription to the Quill and Scroll magazine.

Klaus meets new friends in America.

This Norwegian raconteur tells about Norway.

Like all American students, Klaus thinks homework is boring!

Imported

Klaus-Anders Nysteen was Centennial's 1983-84 foreign exchange student. Klaus came to Pueblo from Stathelle, Norway.

Klaus became very involved here at Centennial. He swam for the boys' swim team. He reported, "Swimming is fun, even though Coach Haley is very tough!" He also joined C-Club and supported other athletics.

Though he has never planned to live here, Klaus has enjoyed the United States and likes the climate. "I am planning to come back to visit, but not to live." Klaus missed his mother's cooking; he replied, "The food is healthier back home . . . I still can't get used to the bread here."

The year at Centennial taught Klaus about people. "They're relaxed - sort of!" The informality of our culture might have thrown Klaus at first, but he fit in just fine. Klaus, we would like you to know how fun you've made our year. Everyone knows how much Americans love their imports!

Joan Simms Colorado's Junior Miss For 1984

February 4, 1984, was a special day for a special Bulldog. Miss Joan Simms was chosen Colorado Junior Miss. Joan won the Poise and Appearance, and the Creative and Performing Arts categories. She also won a $100 scholarship in Simplicity and Sewing Contest.

Joan will travel to Mobile, Alabama, to compete in the National Junior Miss in June. This event will be well publicized and Centennial wishes Joan the best of luck.

The young lady has created personal goals for herself; with pride, Joan has achieved them. A portrait of a true and most deserving Bulldog.

 Wrote and edited the book "Centennial Historical Edition" in 1973. Wrote and edited an updated version for 1974 - 1984

As Centennial High School honors its 100th graduating class, it also wishes to bestow, by way of the dedication of this yearbook, a special honor to a man who had for over four decades lived the tradition of being a loyal, loving, Bulldog. Mr. Robert Collyer, first as a student (1940's), and later as a faculty member (1957 through present), has sought not only to preserve the echoes of Centennial's past, but also to impart knowledge, a sense of value, and tradition to each incoming class as they prepare for tomorrow's leadership.

As the author of two books, he has attempted to allow his readers to share in his passion of Centennial's history, yet his love affair with Bulldog tradition and pride goes even deeper. Bob has spent countless hours of dedicated research to preserve for both past, present, and future generations the pride, purpose, and progression of this high school. He has indeed captured the proud spirit and ever-present affection that often tends to lie dormant in the hearts of some Bulldogs. Not so for Bob Collyer!

So, to him, Centennial High School dedicates this 1984 yearbook, with gratitude, admiration, affection, and an over-whelming sense of pride in having the opportunity to say, "Robert Collyer — one of Centennial Bulldogs' Best!"

Mr. Warren Carere

Centennial Celebrates The "100th All-Class Celebration"

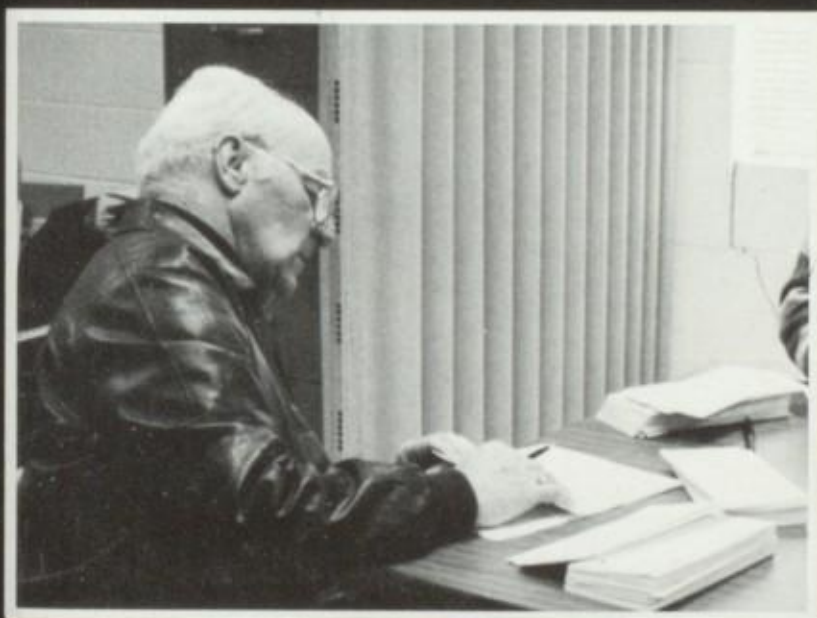

On April 13, 1984, Centennial's alumni and friends gathered at Centennial High School for the "100th All-Class Celebration." The festivities started at eleven o'clock with an assembly in the gymnasium. The oldest alumnus, the oldest principal, the oldest teacher, and the oldest coach were honored at the assembly. Also honored at the assembly were Clifford T. Seymour, Kenneth H. York, Karl A. Lamm and Lulamae Clemons, new members of Centennial's Hall of Fame. There were a variety of activities going on throughout the day to both inform and to entertain the alumni. Such activities included: guided tours of the school, a slide show of old and new buildings, exhibits, a pageant involving music and drama students, Bulldog Band and Orchestra, Red and White Choir, JROTC demonstrations, Cheerleader and Pom-Pon activities, and a '80's fashion show (1880's - 1980's).

Mrs. Pat Allsup organized a silent auction to sell Centennial memorabilia and craft items. Proceeds from the auction went to the Centennial Historical Society Scholarship Fund. The evening activities began with mini-reunions where alumni were able to meet with their classmates in assigned classrooms. The class of 1984 acted as host and hostesses by dressing in clothing representative of the different eras.

Following the mini-reunions, a reception was held in the gymnasium where the 100th anniversary cake was cut. All of the former principals were involved in this ceremony. At 8:30, the activities moved to the old Pueblo Depot. Only alumni over twenty-one were invited to dance and to socialize. To bring this special weekend to a close, many of the alumni classes organized picnics, dinners, receptions, etc., for Saturday and Sunday. It goes without saying that this was the grandest celebration the Bulldogs — both old and new — have ever seen.

To ensure the success of this celebration, planning began in the fall of 1982. The idea, however, was presented by Mr. Bob Collyer in the spring of 1982. He approached both the Boosters club and the class of 1984 about a special celebration honoring the past 100 graduating classes. The class of 1984 is the 100th graduating class, even though Centennial is 115 years old. Both groups were thrilled at the idea and volunteered their time to make this special event come true. Mrs. Sherry Clarkin and Mrs. Mary Tonne were the co-chairpersons for the celebration. They had two primary focus areas. The first one was to promote and to sell the Centennial Historical Edition Updated. Proceeds from the book went to the Centennial Historical Society Scholarship Fund. The first scholarship was awarded to a 1984 graduate. Criteria for the scholarship include being in the top 10% of one's class, involvement in Centennial's service organizations, and demonstration of leadership. The second focus area was to plan the festivities for the "100th All-Class Celebration." This celebration was a joint-planning effort of Centennial's Boosters Club, Centennial Alumni, Centennial's student body (student government and the senior class of 1984, for whom Mr. Bob Collyer was sponsor), and Centennial's faculty. In order to inform alumni about the celebration and Mr. Collyer's book, a 10,000 piece bulk mailing was prepared by some alumni, Booster parents, and Student Government members. It took one full week to complete this task. Congratulations goes to all of the people who made the "100 All-Class Celebration" a big success.

Sports Festival 1983

The fifth edition of the U.S. Olympic Committee's National Sports Festival at the U.S. Air Force Academy Track started June 25, 1983. Over 200,000 fans attended. Five American records two world records in track, three new American records in weight-lifting, and over 50 new NSF individual records in the sports were recorded. Among these included Evelyn Ashford, who broke the old world record in the 100 meters, and Calvin Smith, who also broke the same record in the men's 100 meters. The overall attendance mark of 34,500 broke the 1982 total of 26,018.

Pueblo Gains From Lottery

The House Finance Committee voted 10-1 to approve the Colorado Lottery's request for spending authority to expand into electronic lotto games. Researchers feel lotto will remain popular because it is a constantly changing game. Puebloans alone have won $1.7 million in the Colorado Lottery prize money and the government has gleaned $677,577 to put into Colorado's pocket.

Dolls Make Sales Boom

The homely potato-faced dolls with adoption papers triggered shoppers across the United States to run out and spend money. Thousands of people clawed their way through packed department stores in quest of the dolls, the brain children of artist Xavier Roberts. The starting price of these dolls were $18 to $25, but many were sold for much larger sums. Stores just couldn't keep enough of the hospital-born dolls in stock. Overall, retail sales rose 10.2% because of potato dolls dressed in clothes.

Jac

"The Day After"

ABC's "The Day After" was shown nationwide on November 20, 1983, and pertained to the idea of nuclear war. This movie caused many Puebloans to become aware of the realities of war.

Reactions varied — one little girl, age 7, discovered the fear of death, while another was quoted as saying, "I would panic and pray that my family would be all right." Many younger children had mixed feelings about nuclear war, but all experienced the ever present fear of nuclear war.

Jac

Freddy's Trip

One of Centennial's students, Fred Tooley Jr., went to see the Denver Broncos play the Baltimore Colts on Sunday, December 11th. Although there were over 74,000 fans in attendance, Freddy's trip was special. The 15-year-old freshman is suffering from Pradie-Willie Syndrome (a rare blood disease), a chronic kidney failure, and he is legally blind. Thanks to the Dream Weavers of Pueblo, Freddy was given the chance to fulfill any dream. His dream was to go to a Bronco football game. The Saturday before the game, Freddy visited the Broncos' training field. After practice, the team members gathered around his wheelchair to sign his Bronco football, Bronco banner, and his autograph book. His favorite players, Steve Deberg, Randy Gradishar, and Rick Upchurch, spent extra time chatting and joking with him. When asked how it felt to see the Broncos beat the Colts 21 - 19, Freddy responded, "Great!"

Eleven Get Restored

This past year, eleven buildings in the Union Avenue Historic District were renovated by the Energy Conservation Systems, Inc. of Atlanta. The renovation of these buildings brought $2 million to Pueblo's economy, and approximately 200 jobs. Once the buildings were completed, new tenants moved in. They were able to paint, to carpet, and to decorate the buildings to satisfy specific tastes. The renovation of these eleven buildings was one of the brightest spots in 1984.

Fire and Star

On December 5th, the Flamingo West nightclub was deliberately set on fire. Although the club didn't suffer a total loss, many Puebloans believed that Mickey Gilley, country-western star, would not be able to perform on that Saturday. However, the show was performed after all at the Ramada Inn. Despite the change in the atmosphere, the audience had a great time. Mr. Gilley gave two performances to sold-out crowds.

kdc

December's Big Chill

The winter weather this past year was one of the worst in history. Records were broken in over 45 cities around the nation. The coldest spot was West Yellowstone, Montana, where it got to 36 below.

There were 390 weather-related deaths, more than 100 of those froze to death in a two week period.

Citrus groves in both Texas and Florida suffered badly from the cold. Arctic air froze the oranges on the trees.

With the weather at its worst, it is no wonder that many cities had the worst storms ever. Many cities on the east coast had big floods with which to deal.

Pueblo was also affected by the weather. A common sight in Centennial's parking lot and around town was cars getting their batteries recharged. There were a lot of accidents due to the snow and icy conditions. There is no doubt that winter '83 was one of the worst in history.

Old & Wise

As far as my eyes can see
There are Shadows approaching me and to those I left behind
I wanted you to Know you've always shared my deepest thoughts you follow where I go and oh when I'm old and wise
Bitter words mean little to me autumn Winds will blow right through me and someday in the mist of time when they asked me if I knew you I'd smile and say you were a friend of mine and the sadness would be lifted from my eyes
oh when I'm old and wise
as far as my Eyes can see there are shadows surrounding me and to those I leave behind
I want you all to know
you've always Shared my darkest hours
I'll miss you when I go
and oh, when I'm old and wise
heavy words that tossed and blew me
Like Autumn winds will blow right through me
and someday in the mist of time when they ask you if you knew me remember that You were a friend of mine as the final curtain falls before my eyes
oh when I'm Old and wise
as far as my eyes can see
